JENARD
Training & Personnel

Environmentally Sustainable Operations

In this workshop series we review the demands placed on the environment and how they can be met without reducing its capacity to allow all people to live well, now and in the future.

We cover techniques for operating sustainably and provide participants with the skills needed to develop workplace policies and procedures supporting practices that contribute to the quality of the environment on a long-term basis.

There are two nationally recognised units of competency in this particular skill set and the series of workshops are scheduled one day a month for two months:

- BSBSUS401 Implement and monitor environmentally sustainable work practices
- BSBSUS501 Develop workplace policy and procedures for sustainability

The training can be delivered on site at your business, at Jenard's Training rooms in Liverpool Street Hobart, or at a venue selected to be centrally located to the course participants in any region of Tasmania.

For More information, contact:

Raine Harding
Business Development Manager